

Intentional Leadership

---

“How can I be a leader with Missouri Farm Bureau?”

Missouri Farm Bureau offers many opportunities for leadership and success. As a member based organization, Missouri Farm Bureau relies on its members for direction, growth, and ultimately, leadership. There are many opportunities to take on these roles to strengthen skills and develop the qualities of a good leader.

How can you get involved?

- Youth Leadership Day
  - Each year high school students spend a day at the home office in Jefferson City. Students are able to tour the state capital, speak with elected officials, and hear from speakers on important agriculture issues and topics.
  - <https://mofb.org/education/youth-leadership/>
- Ambassador Program
  - One female and male student ages 17-22 are selected to serve as ambassador for the Missouri Farm Bureau. Members are awarded a $2,500 scholarship and travel to Washington D.C. in March for a legislative trip.
  - <https://mofb.org/education/youth-leadership/>
- Collegiate Chapters
  - There are currently 7 collegiate chapters across Missouri. These chapters are organized by college students with the help of a faculty advisor. Members can attend events, conferences, trips, and various competitions.
  - <https://mofb.org/education/collegiate-programs/>
- Young Farmers and Ranchers
  - Farmers and ranchers ages 18-35 can join the Missouri Farm Bureau Young Farmers and Ranchers program. This allows members to connect with one another and support agriculture.
  - <https://mofb.org/young-farmers-ranchers/>
- County Boards
  - Members may choose to serve on their county board to provide support for agriculture and the organization within their area.
  - <https://mofb.org/county-offices/>